Microplus 571 Range

The Microplus 571 range includes the 571 cabin and 571 GT versions.

The 571 Range has been designed for the family man who does not wish to use his boat on the narrow beam inland canals and waterways.

With a beam of 7'7" in a length of 18'9". The 571 is remarkably roomy yet remaining as easy to handle both on the water and for trailing.

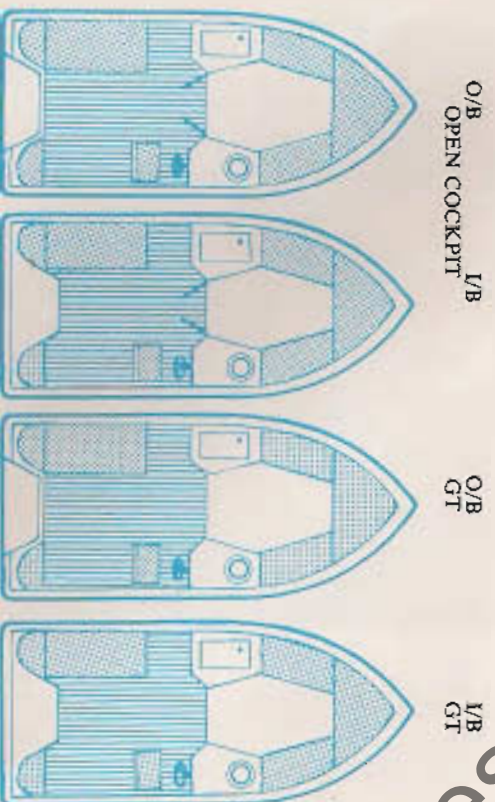

The large airy cabin with sliding side windows for ample ventilation is fully equipped for all the family needs. A large stainless steel sink under a hinged worktop complete with waste system provides ample washing facilities with plenty of storage space in the locker underneath. There is a built-in toilet locker under a useful hinged worktop. An optional table is available for meals which also converts the comfortable twin berths into a double berth. Cabin doors complete with access hatch above doorway and backrests complete the cabin specification.

The very roomy cockpit is particularly versatile having plenty of stowage space for petrol tanks, batteries etc. Moulded seats either side of the engine well and the optional helm and mates seats provide comfortable seating. Two people can sleep comfortably under the optional canopy by fitting the full length optional bunks. A hinged cooker tray is fitted in the cockpit. The GT version has no bulkhead to divide the cabin from the cockpit providing a very spacious airy boat but otherwise offers the same accommodation and options as the cabin version.

The outboard version of the 571 will take engines up to 100hp.

The inboard version of the 571 will take engines up to 120hp.
